

Organisation chart

PETROLEUM SAFETY AUTHORITY
NORWAY

Senior management team \(link\)

Senior management team

Organisation

Professional competence

The PSA is divided into six discipline areas:

- Occupational health and safety
- Drilling and well technology
- HSE management
- Structural integrity
- Logistics and emergency preparedness
- Process integrity

Each area is headed by a discipline leader \(link\) responsible for quality, human resources, expertise development and resource management

Supervisory activities

Supervisory activities are organised in six main groups.

Each group is led by a head of supervision \(link\) who has product responsibility and formal authority to take decisions

Supervisory activities also have a contact person \(link\) for the players.

Legal and regulatory affairs

Legal and regulatory affairs is divided into three areas.

It has responsibility for regulatory development, standardisation, legal assessments, agreements with other government agencies and administrative dialogue with the ministry.

Director legal and regulatory affairs \(link\)

Head of regulatory development \(link\)

Head of management and research \(link\)

Internal support and development

Internal operation and organisational development

Reporting to the director of operational support \(link\)

- human resources, organisation/buildings and internal security
- finance
- manager for IT and information management

Reporting to the manager for IT and information management \(link\)

- system development
- information management

Communication and public affairs

Responsibility for the PSA's external communication channels

- website (psa.no) and social media
- production of publications
- supervision on the web
- media management
- responding to general enquiries from the public

Director of communication and public affairs \(link\)

PETROLEUM SAFETY AUTHORITY
NORWAY